Juliette Fay's 'City of Flickering Light' is a beautifully written and atmospheric novel that explores the complexities of love, loss, and redemption. Set in 1940s Shanghai, the novel follows the story of Sophie, a young woman who is forced to make difficult choices in order to survive.

Sophie is a young French woman who has come to Shanghai to escape the war in Europe. She is quickly drawn into the city's vibrant nightlife, but she soon learns that there is a darker side to Shanghai than meets the eye. When the Japanese invade the city, Sophie is forced to make a choice between her own safety and the safety of the people she loves.

'City of Flickering Light' is a haunting tale of love, loss, and redemption. Fay's writing is evocative and atmospheric, and she brings the world of 1940s Shanghai to life. The characters are complex and believable, and the story is both heartbreaking and hopeful.

If you are looking for a well-written and thought-provoking novel, then I highly recommend 'City of Flickering Light'. It is a book that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.

The Setting

Shanghai in the 1940s was a city of contrasts. It was a vibrant and cosmopolitan city, but it was also a city that was deeply scarred by war. The Japanese invasion had brought death and destruction to the city, and the people of Shanghai were struggling to survive.

Sophie is drawn to the city's nightlife, but she soon learns that there is a darker side to Shanghai than meets the eye. The city is full of spies and criminals, and Sophie is quickly caught up in a dangerous game. She must use all of her wits and cunning to survive.

The Characters

Sophie is a complex and believable character. She is a young woman who is trying to find her place in the world. She is strong and independent, but she is also vulnerable. She makes mistakes, but she learns from them.

The other characters in the novel are equally well-developed. There is Jean-Luc, a French resistance fighter who is torn between his duty to his country and his love for Sophie. There is Mr. Chen, a Chinese businessman who helps Sophie survive. And there is Madame Dubois, a Frenchwoman who runs a boarding house for refugees.

The Themes

'City of Flickering Light' explores a number of themes, including love, loss, and redemption. Sophie's love for Jean-Luc is a powerful force that drives her throughout the novel. She is willing to risk everything for him, even her own life.

The novel also explores the theme of loss. Sophie loses her family and her home in the war. She must learn to cope with her grief and find a way to move on.

Finally, the novel explores the theme of redemption. Sophie makes many mistakes throughout the novel, but she ultimately finds redemption in her love for Jean-Luc and her work with Mr. Chen.

'City of Flickering Light' is a beautifully written and thought-provoking novel that will stay with you long after you finish reading it. It is a story of love, loss, and redemption that is both heartbreaking and hopeful.
